

Patient Support That Speaks Your Language

Call center translation assistance for different languages

Understanding available support is essential for patients along their treatment journey, and nothing should get lost in translation. That's why BMS medication patient support programs provide language translation assistance through our call centers.

We understand that patients can face many challenges, but a language barrier shouldn't be one of them. With translation assistance, our call center representatives can connect patients with live translators who can help make communication easier.

Translators are available in many languages. If you have been prescribed a BMS medication, contact your BMS patient program representative to learn more.
